==========

Executive Summary

This analysis of 9,994 retail orders reveals steady sales growth but highlights opportunities to improve profitability through better category focus and discount management. Overall profit margins remain under pressure due to aggressive discounting practices common in the Kenyan retail sector.

Key KPIs

- Total Sales: Ksh 2.3M
- Total Profit: Ksh 246.4K
- Average Profit Margin: 12.03%
- Total Orders: 5,009

Key Insights

1. Category Performance

- Technology and Office Supplies deliver the highest profit margins.
- Furniture shows relatively lower margins, suggesting pricing or cost review is needed.

Recommendation: Prioritize shelf space and marketing efforts on high-margin categories.

2. Impact of Discounts

- Higher discount rates show a clear negative correlation with profit.
- Deep discounts often result in reduced overall profitability despite increased volume.

Recommendation: Move from blanket discounts to targeted promotions and loyalty programs (e.g., via M-Pesa integration).

3. Regional Performance

- Significant variation exists across regions (Central and South regions perform strongly).

Recommendation: Identify and replicate best practices (inventory management, staffing, promotions) from top-performing regions to underperforming ones.

4. Sales Trend

- Sales have shown consistent growth over the years.

Opportunity: Capitalize on this momentum with better demand forecasting and inventory optimization.

Recommendations for Kenyan Retail Operations

- Optimize Discount Strategy: Shift from high blanket discounts to data-driven, customer-segmented promotions.
- Category Focus: Increase investment in Technology and Office Supplies while reviewing Furniture assortment and pricing.
- Regional Strategy: Conduct deeper analysis on high-performing regions and scale successful tactics nationally.
- Customer Segmentation: Analyze buying patterns by Segment (Consumer / Corporate / Home Office) to tailor offerings.
- Next Steps: Integrate this analysis with real-time sales data from store POS systems for ongoing monitoring.
